ABOUT

Over the past two years, I've grown from a hobbyist to a dedicated Front-End developer. I completed several intensive programs, finishing the React course at RS School among the top students (1635/1650 points). I've built 20+ projects, including two group projects where I also acted as a team lead. Both of them received top scores for code quality and teamwork. My portfolio covers landing pages, SPAs, and real-world applications, such as a company website built from scratch. I enjoy code reviews and collaborative development, and I continuously sharpen my skills through solving 130+ algorithmic challenges on Codewars.

COVER LETTER

Dear Hiring Team,

I began my IT journey with Java but soon discovered my passion for frontend development, where I can combine creativity with structured, maintainable code. I enjoy working in teams, collaborating closely on features, conducting code reviews, and contributing to shared goals.

I have built 20+ projects over the past two years, including SPAs, landing pages, and real-world applications. I am experienced in React (class and functional components), TypeScript, Next.js, Redux, Zustand, Tailwind, SASS, Firebase Admin, and writing unit tests with Vitest. I am comfortable working independently, exploring new technologies, and reading documentation to implement solutions effectively.

I have hands-on experience with Agile and Kanban workflows, CI/CD pipelines, and Git-based collaboration, which allows me to integrate smoothly into team projects and contribute from day one. My focus is on writing clean, maintainable code and supporting team productivity through reliable, high-quality work.

You can find links to my projects and code here: Git Hub.

Looking forward to discuss how my skills will contribute to your team.

Best regards,
Anna Vasilevich
